7 March 2025

Dear Parent/Carer,

I write this at the end of World Book Day but at the beginning of John Colet's World Book Month. We're going large this year as we firmly believe that reading is a fundamental skill that can unlock opportunity, knowledge, understanding, new perspectives on the world and cultural appreciation... the list is endless!

On my way to work this morning I was sad to hear that 40% of adults do not complete reading one full book in a year. That is staggering. Our young people are echoes of ourselves and our influence as adults, carers and parents has been proven, time and time again, to be critical to the early habits and development of our young people. Habits they carry with them into adulthood. I remember as a child that our weekly visits to the library opened up 'a window to the world'.

We could be forgiven in thinking that fiction reading is losing out to technology and the ever expanding digital world. However, there is hope as physical book sales have increased significantly in recent years. This may sound counterintuitive due to what we may perceive as the 'kindle' device culture of e-readers but this market has flattened out and a kindle doesn't have the visual splendour of a library or the tactile feel of paper bound into pages - equally it cannot be used to prop open a door or raise the height of a laptop!

As the Guardian reported last year in February : "Last year in the UK 669m physical books were sold, the highest overall level ever recorded. Research from Nielsen BookData highlights that it is print books that gen Z favour, accounting for 80% of purchases from November 2021 to 2022." This pattern has continued. It would seem that books of all shapes and sizes still hold an allure over us and younger generations are keeping the reading flame well and truly lit shining a light on all the riches that books have to offer us.

Many staff dressed up as literary characters on Thursday to kick off our book month, (See photo on next page), and we have a whole host of activities planned over the coming weeks for everyone to engage in. Please do talk to your child about these and remind them to have a reading book in their bag as part of their equipment.

In this briefing you'll find support information on reading in the 'Tooled Up section' and the technology advice section. I would recommend you join in and perhaps have a 10 minute quiet reading session at home allowing yourself and your kin the opportunity to escape into the many worlds that our books have to offer. In the words of J.K.Rowling: "There's always room for a story that can transport people to another place."

Take care - Ian Brierly

QUOTE QUILT - READING ...

"Today a reader, tomorrow a leader." – Margaret Fuller

"A word after a word after a word is power." – Margaret Atwood

"One glance at a book and you hear the voice of another person, perhaps someone dead for 1,000 years. To read is to voyage through time." – Carl Sagan

"Show me a family of readers, and I will show you the people who move the world." – Napoleon Bonaparte

"A book is a garden, an orchard, a storehouse, a party, a company by the way, a counselor, a multitude of counselors." – Charles Baudelaire

"When I look back, I am so impressed again with the life-giving power of literature. If I were a young person today, trying to gain a sense of myself in the world, I would do that again by reading, just as I did when I was young." – Maya Angelou

"Books are a uniquely portable magic." – Stephen King, On Writing: A Memoir of the Craft

Think before you speak. Read before you think. – Fran Lebowitz

"Books and doors are the same thing. You open them, and you go through into another world." – Jeanette Winterson

"Once you learn to read, you will be forever free." - Frederick Douglass

"Literature is the safe and traditional vehicle through which we learn about the world and pass on values from one generation to the next. Books save lives." – Laurie Anderson

"Reading fiction is important. It is a vital means of imagining a life other than our own, which in turn makes us more empathetic beings. Following complex story lines stretches our brains beyond the 140 characters of sound-bite thinking, and staying within the world of a novel gives us the ability to be quiet

WORLD BOOK MONTH

World book month - We are very excited to be celebrating reading for pleasure as a school community for a full month. As part of the celebrations, all pupils will be given the first 10 minutes of every lesson across the curriculum to read for pleasure. Please remember that a reading book is an essential part of the school equipment, and every pupil should have a reading book with them at all times. They will definitely need it for the coming weeks!

TRAIN DISRUPTION

Please be aware that in a couple of weeks there will be disruption to the train service from Aylesbury into Wendover during the school travel hours. We will post further information in due course.

10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators USING TECHNOLOGY TO BOOST READING SKILLS

The way we engage with text has changed dramatically over the years. Whether reading captions on social media, instructions in a video game or an e-book on a digital device, technology plays a major role in modern literacy. While traditional books remain invaluable, digital tools can enhance reading skills by making text more accessible, interactive and engaging.

1 CHOOSING THE RIGHT TYPE OF TEXT

Before integrating technology, consider the types of text that a child engages with. If they need help on occasion, digital reading pens can assist by scanning and reciting words or sentences. These tools are especially useful for students with reading difficulties, and can even be used in exams if they're part of their routine learning process. Proper training and practice are required, but they can be a great help when tackling printed text.

2 READING ON SCREEN

Many devices now allow users to customise text for better readability. Adjusting font type, size and background colour can significantly enhance comprehension. For many readers, white text on a black background is the easiest to see, whereas other styles – such as dyslexia-friendly fonts – are designed to help those who are struggling. Teaching children how to personalise text settings on their devices empowers them to read more comfortably and with greater confidence.

3 ACCESSIBILITY TOOLS

Most modern devices include built-in tools designed to support readers. These features can be found in Settings under Accessibility and may include text-to-speech, speech-to-text and screen magnification functions. Enabling these tools can make digital reading more user friendly, especially for children with learning difficulties or visual impairments, who might have an easier time with spoken language than the written word, or who might simply require a closer look at the text.

4 INTERACTIVE READING PROGRAMMES

Many digital reading devices, such as Kindle and other e-readers, offer features like word highlighting, adjustable text speed and built-in dictionaries. These tools help learners to break down complex words and phrases while maintaining an appropriate reading pace. Some programmes even allow users to track their progress, making reading a more structured and motivating experience.

5 VIDEO GAMES AND READING SKILLS

Many video games require players to read instructions, character dialogues and mission objectives, making them an unexpected but effective literacy tool. Games that involve storytelling, puzzles or problem-solving often include large amounts of text – encouraging children to read these texts aloud or discuss them can improve their comprehension and vocabulary in a fun, engaging way.

6 SUBTITLES AND CLOSED CAPTIONS

Watching videos with subtitles or closed captions is an effective way to enhance reading skills. As children watch their favourite shows or online videos, they can follow along with the text, gaining a better understanding of how written words sound when spoken aloud. This is particularly beneficial for reluctant readers, as it exposes them to words in a familiar, engaging context. Repeatedly watching content with subtitles reinforces word recognition and comprehension.

7 USING AUDIOBOOKS

Audiobooks are an excellent way to develop listening and reading skills simultaneously. Children can follow along with the text while listening to a narrator, reinforcing word recognition and fluency. For struggling readers, listening to an audiobook before attempting to read the text independently can boost their confidence and comprehension.

9 TEXT-TO-VOICE TECHNOLOGY

Text-to-voice software reads digital text aloud, making it easier for learners to follow along. Most smartphones, tablets and computers come with this function built in. When enabled, users can highlight a passage or sentence and press Play to hear it read aloud. This tool is particularly helpful for auditory learners and those who struggle with decoding written words.

8 VOICE-TO-TEXT FOR WRITING AND READING

Voice-to-text tools allow users to dictate words, which are then transcribed into text. This feature helps children see the connection between spoken and written language. By using text-to-voice to have their dictated words read back to them, learners can identify mistakes and improve their reading and writing skills simultaneously.

10 SOCIAL MEDIA AND PARENTAL CONTROLS

While social media provides opportunities for reading, most platforms have age restrictions of 13–16 years old, making parental guidance essential. Many social media videos include captions and comments that can encourage reading. However, it's important to use the platform's parental controls (such as time limits and content filters) to create a safe and educational online environment for children. Encouraging responsible social media use can ensure a balanced and productive approach to digital literacy.
